Conditions in the Philippines Reviewed Up to July 4.

letiring Commander of the Ameriean Military Forces in the Islands -The General Makes Recommends.

The War Department is in receipt a report of Gen. Arthur MacArthur ntil recently the commanding general he army in the Philippines, covering th eriod from October 1, 1900, to July 981, the time when he relinquished hi ommand to General Chaffee. He treats at some length the general situation i the islands, resulting from the collaps-of the insurrection, so far as any armed and organized force of the Filipinos neerned. While the abandonment of operations by the natives has brought a period of comparative in activity, he says that resistance is still offered by the guerrillas, aided in secre y many of the people. This forms a dis-urbing element in bringing about a complete pacification.

General MacArthur tells of the method employed by the Americans against the guerrillas, the punishments for crimes and the attitude in general of the people toward the Government now established He makes report of the various officia orders, decrees, and proclamations which were issued during the period named, and which have heretofore been made public of the deportation of insurgent leaders to Island of Guam under the direction of the Secretary of War, and other acts ilculated to bring about peace and good overnment in the islands.

Speaking of the field operations of the ermy, General MacArthur says that there were on October 1, 1800, the date of his last report, 413 stations, which the paths cumbent to increase to 52, and he says that every command was in contact with some hostile force. He speaks of the good work done by the army and the aid rendered by the people who are loyal to the authority of the United States. At the time the report was written there good work done by the army and the good work done by the people who are loyal to the authority of the United States. At the time the report was written there was practically no insurgent force north of the Pasig River, although there were diminishing disorders in southern Luzon. The Viscayas, he states, are all pacified, with the exception of the Island of Samar. In Mindanao and Jolo the insurgents had surrendered and disbanded. Of the situation in this regard General MacArthur says:

"It is respectfully submitted that the very gratifying conditions herein briefly very gratifying conditions herein briefly than the summer of the same o

about entirely by the hand of Providence Neither must the attitude of the peop who have declared for peace, or even that of the leaders of the Federal party, be attributed entirely to unreserved pro-Americanism

"It would therefore be unsafe to as sume these conservative forces as con stant factors, the friendly operation of which can be relied upon irrespective of external influences. In due time, and be-yond any question, if beneficent repubican institutions are permitted to operwill become warmly attached to th inited States by a sense of self-interested gratitude. In the meantime the mold ig force in the islands must be a well erganized army and navy. Anything I he immediate future calculated to impede the activity or reduce the efficiency f these instruments will not only be a nenace to the present, but put in copardy the entire future of American bilities in the archipelago." The report tells of the capture of Aguialdo, giving the details briefly as have een heretofore published. He says that immediate results which followed make the capture an important one. It served to dispel, he states, the growing tendency among certain of the Filipinos to idealize the personality of Aguinaldo. They believed him possessed of a certain charm and surrounded him with mythical leg-ads which made him appear to them as invincible.

191; captured, 6,572; surrendered, 22,985. Juring the same period the following mascrial was captured or surrendered from he insurgents. Rifles, 15,091; rifle amminition, 28,385 rounds; revolvers, 885; solos, 1,391; cannon, 122; cannon ammuniton, 19,276 rounds.

The report speaks of the cordial coperation rendered by the navy in many important transactions.

AMERICAN FRUIT ABROAD.

The Government to Go in Partnership With Exporters.

Unique Experiments Proposed by the Agricultural Department-Shippers to Be Reimbursed for Any Loss That May Be Sustained.

A series of experiments, unique even in he history of the Agricultural Departhas been approved by Secretary as the Pomological Bureau of that department. There were some misgivings as to the legal aspect of the proposition, but these have been disposed of by a favorble decision of the Comptroller of the tific knowledge to compensate for any loss that may be sustained through the otherwise unequal partnership. The communication of the Secretary of Agriculture to Comptroller Tracewell in regard to the matter is as follows: In the appropriation for 'Pomological

"(1) May this department, under the authority of this act, enter into co-opera-tive arrangements with dealers and exporters whereby the department shall guarantee a definite minimum net return per package on fruit picked, packed, ship-ped and sold under directions from the emologist of this department through the rdinary channels of trade? Under such an agreement the exporter would receive he net proceeds of sales; that is, all pro-ceeds after deducting freight and other charges connected with the shipments and sales. If this net return should be than the guaranteed amount the difference between the net proceeds ac-tually realized and the guaranteed return would be paid the exporter out of the moneys appropriated for 'Pomological investigations.' Respecting this project he pomologist of this department says:

investigations. Respecting this project the pomologist of this department says:

"This plan seems highly desirable, if it can be adopted, as under it the shipper has the incentive of probable profit to stimulate in him due care and attention in the handling of the fruit in the best possible way. The department simply assumes the risk of losses due to unforseen accidents in transit, or to a temporary glut and consequent low price in the foreign market on a grival of the consignment. In short, the department would, in effect, agree to make good to the experimental shipper a sitpulated price based on that obtainable at home, in case the shipment for any reason should fail to realize that price.

"(2) If you shall decide that the law does not permit the department to enter into arrangements by which minimum prices may be guaranteed to exporters, then the following question is presented: May the department contract to defray the whole or any part of the transportation of fruits belonging to private owners (the packing, shipment, etc., to be directed by the officials of the department), the entire proceeds of the sales going to the person who owns and ships the fruit?

"(3) If neither of the plans above presented shall meet with your approval, then the question remains: Has the department, under the language of the appropriation act above quoted, authority to purchase fruit outright for experimental.

In Massachusetts foreign white persons of voting age. In Louisiana and Kentucky the proportions are even less, or 8 and 18 per cent and native white persons of foreign parentage 19.8 per cent. In Massachusetts foreign white persons of foreign parentage 19.8 per cent of the whole number of males of voting age in 1990, these two elements combined representing a trifle over three-fifths of all males of voting age in the State. In Malue and Maryland these same two elements combined constitute a trifle more than one-sixth, and in Kentucky not quite one-eighth of all males of voting age constitute in Louisiana 5.4 per cent, in Maryland 183 per cent and in Kentucky 185 per cent, and in Kentucky 185 per cent, and 18 per cent of the whole number of males of voting age of the sappropriation is by no means specific, and inasmuch as the suggested plans for co-operation in the experiments of the whole number of males of voting age constitute in Louisiana 5.5 per cent, in Maryland 1990, this colored to the fruits of the specific males of voting age constitute in the specific proposed
